4HG Source, LLC Section 125 Conversion Plan

Summary Plan Description

This booklet contains a summary in English of your plan rights and benefits under the 4HG Source, LLC Section 125 Conversion Plan. If you have difficulty understanding any part of this booklet, contact the benefits department of 4HG Source, LLC at 7143 Old Morgantown Rd, Martinsville IN 46151.

This Plan is established by the above named employer and is the only employer offering the benefits of the Plan.

Plan Purpose

4HG Source, LLC Section 125 Cafeteria & Premium Conversion Plan is a benefit program that allows you to use benefit dollars in a cost-effective manner. Section 125 of the Internal Revenue Code permits 4HG Source, LLC to offer eligible employees the opportunity to pay for eligible group insurance premiums and make contributions to a Health Savings Account (HSA) on a tax-favored (pre-tax) basis.

Who Is Eligible To Enroll In The Plan

You are eligible for this 4HG Source, LLC Section 125 Conversion Plan if you meet the eligibility requirements set forth in this Flexible Benefit Plan. Part-Time employees who work less than 30 hrs/week are ineligible for this Plan. Employees with less than 02 months of employment are ineligible for this Plan. Contract Employees are ineligible for this Plan.

How And When To Enroll

After you become eligible, you must select which benefits you would like to purchase by salary reduction through the Plan. Your decision must be made during the month preceding the Plan Year for which it will be in effect. If you are a newly-hired employee, you must make your decision during the month immediately preceding your becoming eligible. Prior to each Plan Year the Employer will provide you with a written election form that will enable you to identify the benefits in which you wish to participate and the portion of your compensation reduction that may be applied to provide each benefit.

If for some reason, as a newly eligible employee, you fail to complete an election form, then you will be deemed to have elected cash compensation to the extent possible. If you are already a Plan Participant and you fail to complete an election form for the upcoming Plan year, then you will maintain the benefit options that you elected for the prior year, but will not be eligible to participate in the available Reimbursement accounts.

You may design a completely new plan each Plan Year. Keep in mind that your choices are in effect for the entire Plan Year. Only under special circumstances, such as a change in status, changes in the cost of coverage under the plan, and certain other events, may you apply to change your selected benefits. Generally, the change must be consistent with the change event; to the extent it is necessary or appropriate as a result of the change.

Special circumstances also include cost and coverage changes to a health plan, such as a significant increase in the cost of your coverage, a significant decrease in or cessation of your coverage or a significant change in your health coverage or your spouse's attributable to your spouse's employment. For these circumstances, however, only a change to another health plan with similar coverage is permitted. Think about your needs carefully because the benefits you choose but do not use cannot be converted to cash or accumulated from year to year.

Participant may elect to continue his/her Plan elections, including elections by covered dependents, for the upcoming Plan Year by simply so stating on the Enrollment Form for that upcoming Plan Year.

Rules for change in benefits due to a Change in Status in accordance with the following:

A Participant may drop coverage if the cost of that coverage significantly increases and there is no similar alternative coverage available.

An Eligible Employee, who is not enrolled, or are enrolled in a similar benefit options may enroll in a coverage, when there has been a significant decrease in the cost of the desired coverage.

An Eligible Employee, who is not enrolled, or are enrolled in a similar benefit option, may enroll in a new coverage when a new benefit option is added or a benefit option is significantly improved.

When a significant coverage is no longer available resulting in a loss of coverage under this Plan, a Participant may change to another benefit option, if available, or cease enrollment.

Participants may make a change in benefit options that corresponds with changes made under a cafeteria plan of the spouse's or dependent's employer including changes made under a domestic partner's plan, or the plan of the employee's employer. The change request must be combined with adequate documentation describing the change in coverage for which the Participant, dependent, or domestic partner is covered.

Participants may make a change in coverage to add self or dependent who lost coverage under a health plan maintained or administered by a government or educational institution.

Whenever a Participant in this Plan is making a change in benefit options due to a Change in Status, the Participant may also make changes in life, disability, and dismemberment (including accidental death and dismemberment) coverage even though eligibility for such coverage is not affected by the Change of Status event.

If you should terminate your employment and stop your elections under this Plan, you may, if rehired, begin to participate in the Plan again after re-satisfying the eligibility requirements. However, you may not make a new election which is effective during the Plan Year in which your service with the Employer was terminated.

If, for any reason, you become unable to make the required contributions for the Plan, your benefits will cease at that time. You will not be able to resume pretax contributions until the next Plan Year.

FMLA Leave.

A Participant who takes an unpaid leave of absence under the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 ("FMLA Leave") may revoke his election to participate under any group health insurance benefit offered under this Plan, for the remainder of the Plan Year in which such leave of absence commences. Such revocation shall take be effected in accordance with such procedures as prescribed by the Plan Administrator. Upon such Participant's return from his or her FMLA Leave, the Participant may elect to be reinstated in the Plan, on the same terms that applied to the Participant prior to his or her taking the FMLA Leave, and with such other rights to revoke or change elections as are provided to other Participants under the Plan. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a Participant on FMLA Leave shall have no greater rights to benefits for the remainder of the Plan Year in which the FMLA Leave commences as other Plan Participants.

Schedule Of Flexible Benefits

Benefits may be purchased through the Flexible Benefits Plan with pretax income. Details relative to the cost per pay period for each benefit and the minimum and maximum amounts you may contribute to the various benefit plan Reimbursement accounts are provided by the Employer on the Enrollment Form, and as shown on the attached Schedules A, B, and C.

The benefits from which you may choose include:

Premium Conversion Plan (Group Health)
Health Savings Account (HSA) Pre-Tax Contribution Plan

You may purchase the above coverage for yourself, (and in some cases for your qualified dependents), through the Flexible Benefits Plan. You may pay for these benefits using pretax dollars that are automatically deducted each designated pay period.

Premium Conversion Account

The purpose of this Plan is to allow employees to select among cash compensation and certain nontaxable benefits, namely coverage under one or more benefit programs maintained by your Employer. This Employer intends that the Plan qualify as a cafeteria plan under Section 125 of the Code and that the benefits provided under the Plan will be eligible for exclusion from Federal Income Tax.

The Premium Conversion Plan is offered as a part of this Flexible Benefit Plan.

The Plan is a "Salary (or wage) Reduction" plan. This means that you pay your share of the cost of your benefits by electing to have your compensation reduced. You will decide on the amount of your salary reduction on an Enrollment and Salary Reduction Form available from your Plan Administrator. The amount of your agreed salary reduction will be placed in a Premium Conversion Account, maintained by your Employer from which payments for premiums for the various insured benefit plans maintained by your Employer in which you participate will be made. There is in your Premium Conversion Plan's Summary Plan Description a listing of the plans covered by this Premium Conversion Plan, along with the amount of the current premium from which you may make your selection.

The money you contribute to pay for your benefits is not subject to Federal income, Social Security or Unemployment taxation. Therefore, your benefit costs are quite low, and in some cases even result in a net increase in spendable income for you, after paying for your benefits. Failure to participate in this Plan assumes you want your salary paid to you in cash.

How the Premium Conversion Account Plan Works

When you become eligible, you will be required to complete a Premium Conversion Plan Enrollment and Salary Reduction Form available from your Plan Administrator. The Form is an agreement between you and your Employer where you and your Employer list the benefits offered for the Plan Year. It will specify the amount you have agreed to contribute towards the cost of these benefits. Your salary reduction amounts will be credited to your Premium Conversion Plan Account, maintained by your Employer, and the funds in this account will be used to pay, on your behalf, the selected plan premiums.

Health Savings Account (HSA) Contributions

If you are enrolled in the company-sponsored High-Deductible Health Plan (HDHP) and are otherwise eligible under IRC §223, you may elect to make pre-tax salary reduction contributions to your HSA through payroll deductions. Total contributions (employer plus employee) cannot exceed the annual IRS statutory maximums (for 2026: $4,400 for self-only coverage and $8,750 for family coverage, plus an additional $1,000 catch-up contribution for participants age 55 or older). You may start, change, or stop your HSA payroll deduction contributions prospectively on a monthly basis.

Reimbursement accounts - Other Facts to Consider

In order to allow this unique opportunity to reduce your taxable income, the IRS has placed some restrictions on flexible reimbursement accounts.

- Compensation redirection authorized for both medical (and employer provided dependent care contributions, if available,) reimbursement is in effect for the entire year unless you have a change in family status ---such as marriage, divorce, death of a child or spouse, adoption or birth of a child, termination or commencement of your spouses' employment, the switching from part-time to full-time employment status or the reverse by you or your spouse or taking of an unpaid leave of absence by you or your spouse.
- You must use all the funds in your reimbursement account by the end of the Plan Year or you will lose them; the balances cannot be combined, carried over into the next year, or converted to cash. So, if you choose to open a Medical or Dependent Care Reimbursement account, it is wise to be conservative in your estimate of future reimbursable expenses.
- You will receive statements periodically to remind you how much is left in your account. This money must be used for expenses incurred before the end of the Plan Year or be forfeited. You may continue to submit claims up to three months after the Plan Year end for the prior year's expenses. Employees who terminate employment during the Plan Year will be given three months from their date of termination in which to submit request for reimbursement for expenses incurred before termination.

About Social Security Taxes

Social Security taxes are not deducted from the amount you pay in premiums on a pretax basis. This could result in a small reduction in the Social Security benefits you receive at retirement. This is because Social Security benefits are based on what you earn while you were working, up to the Taxable Wage Base (TWB). The TWB is adjusted each year, and is currently $208713.70. If your salary is above the TWB your Social Security benefit is not likely to be affected. If your salary were below the TWB, the benefit would be reduced. The tax advantages you gain through this Plan may offset any possible reduction in Social Security benefits.

About Your Retirement Benefits

Reducing your compensation to obtain Benefit Credits under this Plan may in no way affect the amount of any Employer sponsored retirement plan for which you are or may be entitled to except your Social Security benefits mentioned in the above paragraph.

Future Of The Flexible Benefit Plan

The Plan is based on the Employer's understanding of the current provisions of the Internal Revenue Code. The Employer reserves the right to amend or discontinue the Plan if regulations or changes in the tax law make it advisable to do so. If the Plan is amended or terminated, it will not affect any benefit to which you are entitled before the date of the amendment or termination.

Family And Medical Leave

As an employee of 4HG Source, LLC, you may be entitled under the federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) to up to 12 work-weeks of unpaid, job-protected leave in any 12-month period. You may be eligible if you have worked for 4HG Source, LLC for at least one year, and for 1,250 hours during the previous 12 months. Such leave may be available for the birth and care of a new born child, placement of a child for adoption or foster care, a serious health condition of a family member (child, spouse or parent) or a personal health condition.

As a participant in the medical part of the Flexible Benefit Plan, you have while on leave under the FMLA the option to continue your health benefits on the same terms and conditions as immediately prior to taking your FMLA leave. You and your eligible dependents shall remain covered under this plan while you are on FMLA leave, as if you were still at work. Your coverage will be maintained until you return to work or, if earlier, you notify 4HG Source, LLC that you will not return to work. If you choose not to remain covered under the plan while on FMLA leave, and subsequently return to work before or at the end of the FMLA leave, you and your eligible dependents shall immediately become covered under the plan without proof of insurability and without regard to pre-existing conditions that arise while on FMLA leave. More details on your FMLA leave rights and benefits while on FMLA leave are available for your Plan Administrator.

The following options are available for FMLA payments:

Qualified Medical Child Support Orders

Generally your Plan benefits may not be assigned or alienated. However, an exception applies in the case of "qualified medical child support order." Basically, a qualified medical child support order is a court-ordered judgment, decree, order or property settlement agreement in connection with state domestic relations law which either:

- (1) creates or extends the rights of an "alternate recipient" to participate in a group health plan, including this Plan, or
- (2) enforces certain laws relating to medical child support. An "alternate recipient" is any child or a Participant who is recognized by a medical child support order as having a right to enrollment under the Participant's group health plan.

A medical child support order must satisfy certain specific conditions to be qualified. You will be notified by the Plan Administrator if he or she received a medical child support order that applies to you and the Plan's procedures for determining whether the medical child support order is qualified.

Maternity And Newborn Coverage

Since this Plan may offer maternity and newborn coverage, you are advised that under Federal law, this Plan may not restrict benefits (or fail to provide reimbursement) for any hospital length or stay in connection with childbirth for the mother or newborn child to less than 48 hours following a normal vaginal delivery, or less than 96 hours following a cesarean section, or require that a provider obtain authorization from this Plan or its Administrator or the insurance issuer for prescribing a length of stay not in excess of the above periods.

However, federal law generally does not prohibit the mother's or newborn's attending provider, after consulting with the mother, from discharging the mother or her newborn earlier than the above periods.

Statement Of ERISA Rights

- Examine, without charge, at the plan administrator's office and other specified locations, such as worksites and union halls, all plan documents, including insurance contracts, collective bargaining agreements and copies of all documents filed by the plan with the U.S. Department of Labor, such as detailed annual reports and plan descriptions.
- Obtain copies of all plan documents and other information upon written request to the plan administrator. The administrator may make a reasonable charge for the copies.
- Receive a summary of the plan's annual financial report. The plan administrator is required by law to furnish each participant with a copy of this summary annual report.

In addition to creating rights for plan participants ERISA imposes duties upon the people who are responsible for the operation of the employee benefit plan. The people who operate your plan, called "fiduciaries" of the plan, have a duty to do so prudently and in the interest of you and other plan participants and beneficiaries. No one, including your employer, your union, or any other person, may fire you or otherwise discriminate against you in any way to prevent you from obtaining a welfare benefit or exercising your rights under ERISA. If your claim for a welfare benefit is denied in whole or in part, you must receive explanation of the reason for the denial. You have a right to have the plan review and reconsider your claim. Under ERISA, there are steps you can take to enforce the above rights. For instance, if you request materials under the plan and do not receive them within 30 days, you may file suit in a Federal court. In such a case, the court may require the plan administrator to provide the materials and pay you up to $100 a day until you receive the material unless the materials were not sent because of reasons beyond the control of the administrator. If you have a claim for benefits that is denied or ignored, in whole or in part, you may file suit in a state or Federal court. If it should happen that the plan fiduciaries misuse the plan's money, or if you are discriminated against for asserting your rights, you may seek assistance from the U.S. Department of Labor, or you may file suit in a Federal court. The court will decide who should pay court costs and legal fees. If you are successful, the court may order the person you have sued to pay these costs and fees. If you lose, the court may order you to pay these costs and fees, for example, if it finds the claim is frivolous. If you have any question about your plan, you should contact the plan administrator. If you have any question about this statement or your rights under ERISA, you should contact the nearest office of the Pension and Welfare Benefits Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, listed in your telephone directory or the Division of Technical Assistance and Inquiries, Pension and Welfare Benefits Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue NW Washington, DC 20210.

THE FOLLOWING DESCRIBES HOW MEDICAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.

The Protected Health Information (PHI) provisions of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1997 (HIPAA) and its regulations ("Rules") include privacy protections impacting group health plan medical or financial information that could identify an individual. Individually identifiable information is protected whether it is in electronic, paper or oral format. The HIPAA rules give individuals control over health and financial information related to their health care. PHI may be used only for limited purposes without consent, and in many situations only upon individual authorization. Regarding their own PHI, you have the right to:

- (1) object to using information;
- (2) gain access to information;
- (3) change information; and
- (4) obtain an accounting of any information disclosures.

An underlying principle of the rules is that the "minimum necessary" disclosure should be the standard when using or disclosing information in the normal course of treatment, payment or health plan operations.

You are guaranteed access to your PHI and have the right to: (1) copy and amend health information; (2) receive an accounting of PHI uses; and (3) receive notices of health plans' information practices. You have the right to request that PHI use and disclosure be restricted even for treatment and payment purpose.

The Plan places restrictions on the Employer's use or disclosure of PHI received from the plan or an insurer. Insurers may determine what information will be available to the Plan.

The Plan will meet the minimum necessary uses and disclosures provisions of HIPAA for PHI. However, the minimum necessary provisions do not apply to the following:

- Disclosures to or request by a health care provider for treatment purposes;
- Disclosures to the individual who is the subject of the information;
- Uses or disclosures made based on an authorization requested by the individual;
- Uses or disclosures required for compliance with HIPAA's transaction standards (see 813);
- Disclosures to HHS when the rule requires the disclosure of information for enforcement purpose; and
- Uses or disclosures that are required by other laws.

Any uses or disclosures for which the covered entity has a valid authorization is exempt.

Marketing

The group health plan(s) and other covered entities, as defined by HIPAA, will not use or disclose PHI for marketing purposes without your authorization, except for face-to-face communications with the individual or promotional gifts of nominal value.

Communications that are part of treatment or are about a plan's benefits, services or operations are excluded from the definition of marketing, even if they promote the use or sale of a service or product.

Specifically excluded from the definition of marketing communications about:

- Participating providers and health plans in a network, the services offered by a provider or the benefits covered by a health plan;
- Treatment of the individual; and
- Case management or care coordination for the individual, or directions or recommendations for alternative treatments, therapies, health care providers or settings of care to that individual.

This health plan is not engaging in marketing when it advises enrollees about other available health coverage that could enhance or substitute for existing health coverage. For example, if a child is about to age out of coverage under a family policy, the plan may send the family information about continuation coverage for the child. This exception does not extend to excepted benefits under HIPAA, such as accident-only policies or auto medical liability, nor to other lines of insurance. For example, a multi-line insurer may not use PHI to promote its life insurance policies.

It is not marketing for a health plan to communicate about health-related products and services available only to plan enrollees or members that add value to but are not part of a plan of benefits. To qualify for this exclusion, the communication must meet two conditions:

- (1) It must be health-related. For example, offers of discounts for eyeglasses may be considered part of plan benefits. This exclusion appears to include wellness programs that offer incentives to adopt healthy lifestyle behaviors.
- (2) It must offer an added value of plan membership and not merely be a pass-through of a discount or item available to the public at large. Thus, a plan could offer its members a special discount for a health/fitness club, but not pass along to its members discounts that the members could obtain directly from the club.

For marketing activities permitted by an authorization, if there is remuneration, the marketing material must state that the entity making the communication is being paid by another entity.

Underwriting

An insurer that receives protected group health plan information for underwriting, premium rating and other similar purpose – and that coverage is not placed with the insurer- cannot use or disclose the information for any purpose other than as required by law.

Verification

In any disclosure other than those allowing the individual to agree or object, verifying the identity of anyone requesting PHI who is not known to the health plan or other covered entity must first occur.

If disclosure is conditional on documentation or statements from the person seeking PHI, that documentation or statement must be obtained before the PHI can be disclosed.

Legal Control

The right is reserved in the Plan for the Plan Sponsor to terminate, suspend, withdraw, amend or modify the Plan in whole or in part at any time, subject to the applicable provisions of the Plan.

This is a Summary Plan Description only. This Plan is part of another Plan, The Flexible Benefit Plan, so your specific rights to benefits under the Plan are governed solely, and in every respect, by 4HG Source, LLC Flexible Benefits Plan Document, and this Flexible Benefit Plan Summary Plan Description, copies of which is available from the Plan Administrator or his designee, upon your request. (See statement of ERISA rights.) If there is a discrepancy between the description of the Plan as contained in this material, and the official Plan Document, the language of the Flexible Benefit Plan Document will apply.
